- a) A and B were carrying on business in partnership since 2005 sharing profit/loss in the ratio of 3:2 respectively. They decided to admit C as a partner on the basis that he brings Rs. 3,000 into the firm of which Rs. 1,000 is to be premium on admission to a quarter shares, new profit sharing ratio between A and B is to be 2:1. On the other hand, C brings into the firm his own goodwill valued at Rs. 1,600 associated with a separate unit, the sharing ratio is 3:2:5 between A, B and C respectively. The firm has the policy to write off the goodwill immediately after necessary adjustments.

You are required to show:

Answer:

- a) This is the case of admission of a partner where both firms are having goodwill. As per settlement, the new profit sharing ratio for sharing the profits of two businesses is as follows:

Goodwill of the firm A and B

Profit sharing Ratio

Old partners are A and B

3:2

New partners are A, B and C where  $\frac{1}{4}$ th to C

Remaining  $(1 - \frac{1}{4}) = \frac{3}{4}$ th to A and B in the ratio of 2:1

Therefore, new ratio of A, B and C is

2:1:1.

Total goodwill of this firm which is  $(Rs. 1000 \times 4) = Rs. 4000$  is to be raised in the old ratio, between the old partners and is to be written off in the new partners new ratio.

i) Entries necessary to give effect to the adjustments are:

- a) Shri Mehta of Birgunj consigns 1,000 cases of goods costing Rs. 100 each to Shri Sundar of Kathmandu. Shri Mehta pays the following expenses in connection with consignment:

	Rs.
Carriage	1,000
Freight	3,000
Loading charges	1,000

Shri Sundar sells 700 cases at Rs. 140 per case and incurs the following expenses:

	Rs.
Clearing charges paid to transporter	850
Warehousing and storage	1,700
Packing and selling expenses	600

(7)

It is found that 50 cases have been lost in transit and 100 cases are still in transit. Shri Sundar is entitled to a commission of 10% on gross sales.

Draw up Consignment Account and Shri Sundar's Account in the books of Shri Mehta.

	98,000		98,000

Working Notes:

- i) Consignor's expenses on 1,000 cases amounts to Rs. 5,000; it comes to Rs. 5 per case. The cost of cases lost will be computed at Rs. 105 per case.
- ii) Sundar has incurred Rs. 850 on clearing 850 cases, i.e., Rs. 1 per case; while valuing closing stock with the agent Rs. 1 per case has been added to cases in hand with the agent. i.e. 106 each.

i) Bank Reconciliation Statement

It is a statement which explains the difference between the balances in pass book (bank statement) and cash book (bank account in ledger), analyzed into various causes and the extent to which each contributes to such difference. It is prepared on periodic basis. It helps in finding out the actual position of the bank balance. It usually detects the difference in cash book and pass book balances due to some of the reasons such as:

(8)

- a) Cheques issued but not presented for payment.
- b) Cheques paid into bank but not yet cleared.
- c) Interest allowed by bank
- d) Expenses charged by bank
- e) Direct payment into bank by a customer
- f) Dishonour of bills discounted with bank

Beyond this, difference may also arise due to errors in recording entries. The reconciliation will bring out any errors that may have been committed either in cash book or in the pass book. It is a very important tool for internal control of cash flow. It also helps in detecting frauds and irregularities occurred, if any, at the time of passing entries in the cash book or pass book whether intentionally or unintentionally.

ii) Accommodation Bills

Bills of exchange are usually drawn to facilitate trade transaction i.e. bills are meant to finance actual purchase and sale of goods. But in some cases in order to oblige friends, bills are drawn, accepted and endorsed without any consideration. Such bill drawn without consideration is known as accommodation bills. By accepting such a bill the acceptor is able to lend his name and the other party (drawer) taking advantage of the reputation of the acceptor get it discounted with his banker. After meeting his needs with this temporary finance, he (drawer) sends back money to the acceptor thus making it possible for him to meet the bills on the due date. Since such bills are accepted without any consideration, there is no liability of the acceptor to the drawer. However, the acceptor cannot escape his liability to third parties. In dealing with entries in accommodation bills along with normal entries following additional points is to be noted :

- a) The bills are drawn and accepted without any consideration. Therefore, when the ledger account are opened, there is no balance brought down.
- b) When accommodation bill is discounted and the proceeds are shared, the loss due to discount must also be shared by the parties in the same ratio in which they have shared the proceeds.

iii) Provision and contingent liability

Provision is a liability of uncertain timing or amount. A liability exists if there is present obligation as a result of past events and settlement is expected to result in an outflow of resources (payment).

Contingent liability is a possible obligation depending on whether some uncertain future events occur or a present obligation but payment is not probable and the amount cannot be measured reliably.

Hence provision are made for known or specified liabilities which may occur in future whereas contingent liabilities is made for unknown liabilities which may or may not occur in future. Provision is accrued in the financial statement whereas contingent liabilities are disclosed but not accrued.

Examples of provision are provision for doubtful debts, provision for taxation etc.

Examples of contingent liabilities are claims against firm not acknowledged as debts, possible liabilities on account of guarantee given etc.
